CALL FOR POSTERS

We invite you to submit your poster to PROMISE 2015. Student accepted posters will get one of the 6 free registrations sponsored by Microsoft Research on a first come first served basis!

Topics of Interest

We invite posters with all kinds of empirical studies on predictive models and data analytics in software engineering (e.g. case studies, meta-analysis, replications, experiments, simulations, surveys etc.), as well as industrial experience reports detailing the application of predictive modelling and data analytics in industrial settings. Work in progress for early feedback is welcome.

Important Dates

Submission deadline: September 21st, 2015, but note that the first 6 submissions that are accepted and whose lead author is a student will get a free student registration!

Notification date: Notifications will be provided on an ongoing basis and at the latest on September 25th, 2015

Submissions

PROMISE 2015 submissions must meet the following criteria:

- be original work, not published or under review elsewhere;
- be A0 portrait size;
- a pdf file with the poster should be submitted via email to I.I.minku@cs.bham.ac.uk, with subject "PROMISE poster submission". The email should also contain information on whether the lead author is a student and would like to receive a free student registration.

Posters will be judged by one member of the steering committee for acceptance. Posters are intended for encouraging discussions and for early feedback. They will not be published in the proceedings, and must be presented by at least one author at PROMISE 2015.

Qualifying for Free Student Registration

In order to qualify for a free student registration, the lead author of the accepted poster must be a student. A letter confirming the enrolment of the student in a university will be required upon poster acceptance.
